—The commission of Mrs. Louisa F. Ewing as Postmaster at Logansport, Ind., was signed on Tuesday.

—The Grand Encampment of I. O. O. F. of Indiana convened in annual convention in Indianapolis on Tuesday.

—A man named McGrath was run over and killed by a construction train on the Fort Smith Railroad, near Conway, Ark., on Tuesday.

—The receiver of the Bank of Commonwealth of New York has declared a final dividend of 20 per cent. to all creditors except shareholders.

—The store of Baker & Sturgeon, at Delaware, Ohio, was entered by burglars on Tuesday morning, and robbed of silks valued at about three thousand dollars.

—The Omaha pork packers have commenced in earnest, and are packing all the hogs they can get. The weather for the past week has been very favorable for their operations.

—The argument in the case of the German bondholders vs. the California Pacific Railroad Company has been set for December 21, in the United States District Court in San Francisco.

—Navigation upon the canals of New York will be closed for the season of 1874 on the 5th of December next, except on lateral canals, which will be closed at the direction of the Commissioners in charge.

—The President has appointed Wm. Stickney, of the District of Columbia, Indian Commissioner under the fourth section of the act making appropriations for expenses of the Indian Department, approved April 10th, 1869.

—The United States troops who have been occupying the State House, in New Orleans, for some time past, were withdrawn on Tuesday morning. Captain Lawler, with a force of about thirty policemen, supplies their place.

—At a meeting of railroad managers and commissioners to consider the expediency of changing the table of distances on which rates are established was held in Toledo on Tuesday. After several hours' discussion it was decided to make no change at present.

—The retail grocery department of Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution of Salt Lake City has been sold out to private individuals. The dry goods and produce retail departments of this institution were sold out not long since, and passed into private hands.

—The small-pox exists in Brownsville, Texas, in a bad form. The physicians say it is almost epidemic. Five children died in one family after a short illness. This disease has been very fatal in Roma, killing a hundred, most children, out of a population of seven hundred.

—The auction sale of the Lick property in California, donated for public use, took place on Tuesday. The aggregate received was $1,959,925. The Lick House Hotel sold for $920,000. The sale of the Island of Cattalina was postponed two months. There was a large attendance of capitalists and real estate men.

—The Secretary of War has received a dispatch from General Sheridan, giving him the first intimation that Santanta had been sent back to Texas to be delivered to the Governor of that State, he having broken his parole, but that Big Tree was not returned, as it was not certain that he was alike guilty in that respect.

—The news from the grass-hopper districts in Nebraska is meagre, but confirms all previous statements as to the extent of suffering. The State Relief Society is shipping supplies daily to the afflicted districts. General Ord has received a telegram from Washington instructing him to ascertain what amount of men's clothing will be needed by the sufferers.

—An accident occurred on the Memphis & Little Rock Railroad, on Tuesday evening, three miles west of Brinkley, by which Conductor Mayhew received a severe gash across the head, and a man named Randel was badly injured. The train was wrecked. The caboose and baggage car were turned completely over. A broken rail is reported as the cause.

—Postmaster General Jewell has issued an order discontinuing the pay and services of John Callaghan, special agent of the department, for loaning to his brother an annual pass from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad Company, which had been granted to him solely upon the ground that he was an accredited special agent of the Postoffice Department.

—The Acheson (Ks.) Champion has full returns of the vote of that State. The total vote cast was 86,000—near 15,000 less than two years ago. Osborn (Republican), for Governor, has 13,447 majority. The average majority for the rest of the State ticket is about 19,000. The opposition vote was about 1,700 and the Republican vote about 14,000 less than two years ago. The Legislature is two-thirds Republican.

—President Grant and family, accompanied by members of the Cabinet, and Senators Sargent and Logan, with the ladies of their respective families, Assistant Secretary of the Interior Cowan, and other Government officials, will go to Baltimore on Saturday to attend in a body the lecture to be delivered by Rev Dr. Tiffany, at Masonic Hall, in that city, on Saturday night, in the interest of the National Washington Monument.

—Last Saturday, at Bearfield Point, Ark., Wagner and another planter named Cobles had a difficulty about some steel traps. On Sunday they met again near Wagner's house, Cobles being accompanied by his two boys, when the difficulty was renewed, and terminated in Cobles shooting Wagner through the left breast with a rifle, inflicting a fatal wound. After Wagner had fallen one of Cobles' sons attempted to shoot Wagner, but the pistol snapped.

—The strike by coal miners in Clair county, Ill., which has been in progress some days past, virtually ended on Tuesday by the adoption of resolutions at a mass meeting near French village, allowing all Union men who can get four cents per bushel for digging to commence work. The object of the strike, which was to compel all co-operative men and "blacklegs," or non-Union men, to join the Miners' Union, and thereby establish a uniform price for digging, was not effected, and matters stand about where they did when the strike was inaugurated.

Indians Suspicious of Scientific Expeditions.

FT. LARAMIE, WY., November 17.—News has been received from the Red Cloud Agency, dated the 12th and 13th insts., which states that Prof. Marsh, of Yale College, is being detained there on account of the Indians objecting to his visiting the newly discovered fossil region there. They say the white men are going to search for gold, not bones. Some Indians that were engaged by Professor Marsh to accompany him as guides were told by the others they would kill them if they went. Later information is that at a council held on the 14th they gave a reluctant consent. Some of the Indians above mentioned as being engaged by Prof. Marsh—among them "Man Afraid of His Horses"—said he must go now, and they with him to show the other Indians that they were not afraid. It is presumed that after a certain amount of opposition and speeches, the Indians will give their consent.

Cattle Stealing on the Texas Border.

GALVESTON, Texas, November 17.—Two droves of stolen cattle have been crossed into Mexico within twenty-four hours. They were crossed within the corporate limits of Brownsville. Deputy Inspector Rock went to the other side to-day, and waited upon a fuertes. He sent three policemen with Rock. They met three armed thieves at the edge of Matamoras, driving twenty-three beeves. They escaped on their horses, and the stolen cattle were captured. Eighteen beeves were bogged at the crossing, making a total of forty-one in that drove. The animals are in possession of the Mexican authorities; also the other drove. The beeves were crossed near a party of Mexican soldiers, who said they had no orders to interfere with them.

ANOTHER RIVER HORROR.

The Steamer Empire Sinks at the New Orleans Wharf.

A Large Number of Persons Drowned.

Five Bodies of Victims Recovered.

STATEMENTS OF OFFICERS.

NEW ORLEANS, November 17.—The regular lower coast packet Empire, Captain Jeanferau, sunk to her texas at about four o'clock this morning, at her landing at the foot of Conti street. The Empire arrived about 12:30 o'clock A.M., heavily loaded with sugar, molasses, rice, &c. Several passengers left the boat upon its arrival, otherwise the loss of life would have been very large. As it is, fourteen passengers and many of the crew are believed to have been drowned. Five bodies were recoverd, including the Captain's eldest daughter, about seventeen years of age, and Mr. Frisbee, a well known plantation Engineer. Capt. Jeanfreau lost four children and saved his wife and baby, who, with him, were sleeping in the texas. D. R. Perrett, a passenger who escaped from the sinking steamer, gives as his opinion that the boat was overloaded and parted in the centre.

The Empire was built at Algiers about three years ago, and owned by the Empire Parish Packet Company, and was valued at about $30,000. She had on board about 160 hogsheads of sugar, besides a large number of barrels of molasses and a quantity of rice.

Captain Jeanfrau's Statement.

Captain Jeanfrau states that the Empire had only a fair cargo; was not overloaded; that the guards were well above water; at the time of the sinking was awakened by a great noise and confusion; caught one of his children and swam with it to shore; saw his wife standing on deck with her babe in her arms. As the boat went down she clung to the wheel-house of the Bradish Johnson, which stood alongside, but a violent shock wrenched from her grasp her child, which fell into the water and was drowned.

The Mate's Story.

John Dublin says: Am mate of the Empire. We arrived last night about twelve o'clock, and tied up; went to my room, and almost immediately went to sleep; between four and five o'clock heard a tremendous crash; thinking we had been run into, rushed on deck; seeing she was sinking, I shouted for everybody to get life preservers; rushed along forward, shouting, to wake all I could, intending to run into the cabin, when the boat, almost in a second's time, seemed to sink, and I was thrown into the water; swam until I could catch hold of something and save myself.

The Pilot's Statement.

Eugene Durabe, the pilot, says: When the boat sank I was in my bed; heard a crash; thought we were run into. I was thrown into the water. I think the boat broke in two, she sank so suddenly.

Five bodies have been found; the number lost is uncertain, as no one is positive of the number who left the boat immediately upon her arrival here. The boat is said to be insured for $15,000.

Another Statement by Capt. Jeanfrau.

Capt. Jeanfrau states that of his best knowledge the Empire had one hundred and sixty-nine hogsheads of sugar, seventy-nine barrels of molasses, two hundred and thirty-eight barrels of rice, and seven hundred and eighty-five sacks of rough rice. He says the boat did not break in two, but went down stiff and solid. He could not account for the sinking, as she was not overloaded, and there was no unusual water anywhere when he retired at night. He cannot tell how many passengers there were, as the books are in the safe in the clerk's room. He thinks there were about thirty-five lost, including four of his children—Fanny, seventeen years; Johnny, twelve years; Ada, eight years, and Walter, seven months. He is overwhelmed with grief, and can scarcely realize the sorrows of last night.

The bodies of Fanny and Walter, and Mr. Frisbee, Engineer of the Magnolia plantation, and two children of Mr. Kemper, have been recovered. The boat and cargo were partially insured in city offices. The bell boat Osage will attempt to raise the wreck to-morrow, when the bodies of the drowned persons will probably be recovered.

The Missing.

The following are the names, as far as known, of the missing, and believed to be lost: Henry Jackson, Numa Roberts, carpenter; William Green, Engineer; Mr. Maddox, from Belair plantation, Outsine Bare, of Buras; Mr. and Mrs. Kemper and two children; Mrs. Jos. Martin, Point La Hache; Mrs. Mazella, Union plantation; Rose St. John, stewardess; Charles Williams, pantry keeper; Charles Ward and John Williams, cook boys.

AFFAIRS IN ARKANSAS.

Legislative Proceedings — The Smith Conspiracy.

LITTLE ROCK, November 17.—The Senate to-day passed the joint resolution commending the prompt action of Gov. Garland in the Smith matter. A bill was also introduced and passed to a third reading, authorizing the Governor to offer a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the parties charged with conspiring for the overthrow of the Government, and other crimes of a like character.

The same quiet which has prevailed since Smith's proclamation was made public still prevails. Nothing has yet been heard of Smith, nor has there been any demonstration in his behalf by any body in any part of the State.

Judge Poland, of the Congressional Investigating Committee, left for Washington this evening. Judge Ward, of the committee, remains here. It is reported here that Judge Poland was summoned to Washington by the Attorney General.

The General Assembly has passed a joint resolution of thanks to Governor Baxter for his course during the past two years.

Gov. Garland received the following dispatch to-night:

HELENA, November 17.—To Gov. A. H. Garland: The dispatch from Little Rock stating that troops are being raised here to support Smith is false. Everything is perfectly quiet.

(Signed) H. B. ROBINSON, Sheriff.

Robinson is a colored man, and was elected under the new Constitution by the Republicans of Phillips county. In no locality in the State are there any disturbances or any attempt to organize men in the interest of Smith.

The Louisiana Returning Board.

NEW ORLEANS, November 17.—John M. Sandige, who was elected by the Returning Board to fill the vacancy occasioned by General Longstreet's resignation, declines, for the reason that he has no expression or intimation from the Board that a place would be made for another Conservative member, placing the party he should represent on something like equality with that of its contestants, and not having been requested by the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party to act in such capacity. The Returning Board met at 11 A. M. Mr. Hunsacker, of St. James, Republican candidate for the Legislature, desired to be informed whether the returns had yet been received from St. James parish. The board informed him that the returns had been received ten days ago. The board resumed counting at the twelfth poll of the Second ward of the city.

The returning officers elected O. Arroyo, Democrat, to fill the vacancy in the board. He took the required oath and was seated.

Collision on the Cairo Short Line R. R.—Obstructions Discovered on the Track.

ST. LOUIS, November 17.—The Evening Dispatch has a special from Belleville, Ills., stating that a coal train on the Cairo Short Line Railroad collided about three o'clock this morning with an empty coal car, which had been run out on the main track from the Winona coal switch, about two miles from Belleville. An examination also revealed that a large stick had been fastened to the track just over a cattle guard near by. It is believed that these obstructions were placed on the track by striking miners—the one to wreck the train, which was laden with coal dug by non-society men, and the other to ditch an empty train going south after coal. Nobody was hurt.

Philadelphia Opposed to the Proposed Reciprocity Treaty—The Passage of General Negley's Steamboat Bill Advocated.

PHILADELPHIA, November 17.—The Board of Trade last evening opposed the ratification of the reciprocity treaty with Canada, and adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Executive Council of the National Board of Trade be requested to act in conjunction with the National Board of Steam Navigation, to secure, at the coming session of Congress, the passage through the Senate of General Negley's House bill for the better inspection of vessels propelled by steam upon the waters of the United

NEW YORK.

Conference of Railway Men.

Boiler Explosion on a Tug.

FIVE OF THE CREW KILLED.

NEW YORK, November 17, 1874.

Conference of Railway Men.

The representatives of the Grand Trunk Railroad met several officers of the New York Central Railroad in the President's rooms at the Grand Central depot yesterday, to confer on the subject of their interchange of traffic at Buffalo and on kindred topics.

General Manager Joseph Hickson, of the Grand Trunk, said he had not come to New York to make arrangements connected with the Saratoga compact. The Grand Trunk Railway would not enter into that contract—that might be considered as settled. The Grand Trunk was not willing to have its rates controlled and its business interfered with by a Board of Commissioners. The Grand Trunk is in favor of maintaining reasonably high rates and of working in harmony with the combined Trunk lines, but it is decidedly opposed to excessive rates, and is not willing to submit to any invidious distinctions against it. The Grand Trunk can manage its own staff and attend to its own business. It might make some change in rates if the combined lines adopted advanced rates which might be fixed by their Commissioners, but with the slack exportation and other obstacles, it is a poor time to raise the rates of freight.

Mr. Hickson said that the Grank Trunk did not pay drawbacks on freight, as other lines had done, and did not allow commissions on tickets, having its own agents, except in cases where the agent was paid by commissions instead of salary.

Terrible Boiler Explosion.

The steam tug Lily exploded her boiler this afternoon near the Government works at Hellgate, killing five of the crew and fatally injuring the Captain, David A. Havens.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Gen. Augur's Expedition — The Savages Routed in All Directions.

CHICAGO, November 17.—The following dispatch was received at Lieut. General Sherman's headquarters this morning:

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, November 16, 1874.—The following was just received from Col. MacKenzie:

HEADQUARTERS SOUTHERN COLUMN, SUPPLY CAMP, November 8, 1874, via Fort Worth, November 15, 1874.—Returned to this place to-day, having scouted to the southwest on the Staked Plains. November 2, saw a small party of Indians. November 3, found the camp of a hunting party on Los LaGueras Fusah. Two Indians were killed and nineteen women and children and one hundred and forty-four head of stock captured. November 5, Lieut. Thompson, with nine scouts, several miles from the command, killed two Indians and captured twenty-six horses and mules. The women say that the band of two warriors, Patchaguire and Hanschoe, are, with eight lodges of Cheyennes, on Staked Plains. Many of their people have gone to the reserve with Mowery; that the intention of the remainder was to leave for the reserve in a few days to try and slip around the troops and get authority to go to Fort Sill; that the Staked Plain Apaches left for the mountains about a month ago. Some of these women were among those captured on the North Forks of Red River two years ago. I will try one more trip on the plains, after which there will be no use looking for Indians there this winter. I intend going to the northwest, between the head of the Brazos and Red Rivers.

C. C. AUGUR, Brigadier General.

Official dispatches received by General Sheridan this morning confirm the reports from McClellan's Creek, of the recent successful engagements of Lieutenant Farnsworth and Lieutenant Baldwin and the Indians.

Another dispatch from McClellan's Creek states that the 200 Cheyennes, who recently engaged Captain Farnsworth's command of twenty-five men and were defeated, encountered ninety-eight men of the United States cavalry and infantry, in command of Lieutenant Frank D. Baldwin, chief of scouts, and after a fight lasting five hours, were driven from the field. The Indians lost their entire outfit, and left behind them two little white girls named Germon, whose parents, brother and elder sister, were massacred in Kansas, while the family were moving to Colorado. Two other sisters, aged thirteen and fifteen, are still in the hands of the Indians. Fresh and picked troops have gone in pursuit of the retreating Indians, who are moving for the Staked Plains.

The Cincinnati Robbery.

CINCINNATI, O., November 17.—Edward J. Hackney, the third confederate in the robbery of the American Express Company, was arrested to-day, but denies complicity or knowledge of the affair. He has been recognized as one of the two men who carried the trunk out of the office. George Black, the other man, who carried out the trunk and safe, confessed this afternoon, and said that he and Hackney were paid three hundred dollars each by Monroe to carry out the trunk and safe. He went in company with the officers this evening back of Covington, to where he said they buried the safe, but the ground was so wet and muddy that they gave up digging for it, and returned to the city without it. The search will be resumed to-morrow.

Monroe, Black and Hackney, all three American Express robbers, have made confessions that they committed the robbery. The safe has been recovered with a few valuables, but no clue has been obtained to the whereabouts of the money. Hopes are entertained that it will be secured to-night. A plan was arranged for all three parties to meet in St. Louis to-night, and go thence to Oregon.

Later.—Two officers of the Metropolitan police returned to the city at one o'clock to-night, with $20,964, recovered from the express robbery.

A Kentucky Tragedy.

LOUISVILLE, KY., November 17.—There seems some doubt whether young Dr. Easton, who was found shot through the abdomen near Lexington, Ky., yesterday morning, was one of the party who made the raid upon the negro's cabin, and was shot by accident, or was deliberately murdered by the party. He died last night without making any statement in regard to the matter.

A special to the Courier Journal says Judge Hunt instructed the Grand Jury to investigate the affair to the bottom, and declared that he will hold Court until Christmas, if necessary, to bring the offenders to justice. The local press of Lexington are unanimous for prompt and decisive action. The negro whom the party were in search of when Easton was killed was a bad character and a suspected hog thief, but the Press newspaper, speaking of the crime, says: If his presence was dangerous, and if he could be proved to be a common thief, as charged, there was a legal remedy, and the adoption of any other means by regulators or Ku-Klux was a crime against the peace of society, which should meet with the severest punishment. This negro was not hurt, but another innocent negro was slightly wounded!

Fatal Accident in a Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., November 17.—An extensive cave occurred at the Seneca Mines at Pittston, to-day. Five or six men were at work, when the roof gave way with a terrible crash, killing Elias Davis and Henry Jenkins, and dangerously injuring John T. Williams.

SECOND EDITION

A REIGN OF LAWLESSNESS.

Two Men Murdered at Carbondale.

Another Nailed to a Beam.

A Corpse Found at Scranton.

Assassinations the Order of the Day.

WILKESBARRE, PA., November 17.—The reign of lawlessness in the coal regions appears to be continually growing worse, caused, perhaps, by the fact that most of the perpetrators of assaults and murders escape capture and punishment. At Carbondale, on Saturday night or Sunday morning last, two men were murdered, and three severely assaulted, one of whom will probably die. Patrick Padden, a miner at Coalbrook colliery, was found upon Dundof street in that city on Saturday morning, with two bullet holes in his head and badly pounded about the body. His head was frozen to the ground, the hair having dragged in a pool of blood and water, which had congealed. He was not quite dead when found, but expired in the afternoon. He had quarreled with some parties on Saturday afternoon.

Michael McNally was found dead on the same morning upon the railroad bridge near Lookout, in the same city. He was about twenty years of age. The body had evidently been put there. Michael Begland was found about the same place with his throat cut. He was dressed in an old suit of miner's clothing. When last seen, on Saturday night, he had on a suit of good clothing. He is still alive, and will probably recover.

A boss at the Erie breaker was waylaid on Saturday night, and had his arm broken, and received other injuries, but escaped with his life. His name was not ascertained.

About two miles below the city, at the Carbondale mines, a man whose name is not yet known, was found nailed to a beam in a lonely and unfrequented place. Strong nails were driven through his coat at the wrists and his pantaloons at the ankles, and in this position he was undoubtedly left to die, but by a mere accident he was found and released.

At Scranton, on Sunday morning, a newsboy found the body of Michael Kearney lying at the foot of an embankment. He was dead, and had evidently been thrown there. No arrests have been made.

THE CAPITAL.

Conflicting Reports from Arkansas.

Reception at the White House

WASHINGTON, November 17, 1874.

Affairs in Arkansas.

Governor Garland sent the following telegram to his counsel in Washington, dated yesterday:

"LITTLE ROCK.—All is peace and quiet here—perfectly so. I will have no collision unless it be forced upon me by resisting a process of law or attacking me. All classes of people, of all parties, are supporting me, and I cannot find Smith and his party to arrest them with warrants, and no one knows where they are."

Another telegram from Garland, dated to-day, says: "Only one arrest was made, Price, and on examination he was discharged. The guilty ones, Smith and Wheeler, are fugitives, and cannot be found. All is quiet and the Government moving on admirably."

The following, from the editor of the Republican paper at Little Rock, was received here to-night by Senator Dorsey, of Arkansas:

"LITTLE ROCK, November 17.—The Republicans are waiting patiently for some definite action by the Federal authorities at Washington. They can protect themselves if forced to do so. They have always been loyal and obedient to the mandates of higher authority. The Federal Government sustained Baxter in his conflict with Brooks, and by that means alone Garland and his mob of White Leaguers obtained possession of the State courts and all, and they at once commenced a regular system of murders, intimidations, and other fearful crimes, which is resulting in all the horrors of civil war. Business throughout the State is almost entirely suspended, and White Leaguers and militia roam at large. If we are to fight, we wish to know it. The earlier the matter is settled the better it will be for all."

Reception at the White House.

The President and Mrs. Grant gave a card reception at the Executive Mansion this evening to Col. Fred Grant and his bride. The attendance was very distinguished, including members of the Cabinet, Senators and Representatives, army and navy officers in full uniform, and members of the diplomatic corps, nearly all accompanied by ladies. Hon. George Bancroft, ex-Minister to Germany, General Sherman and Admiral Porter were among the guests. The full Marine Band furnished the music.

FOREIGN.

GERMANY.

Count von Arnim.

LONDON, November 18.—A Berlin dispatch to the London Times says a letter from Prince Henri Reuss, German Ambassador at St. Petersburg, on the policy of Germany towards Russia, is among the documents which Count von Arnim is required to surrender. Its disappearance adds to the mystery of the affair.

BERLIN, November 17.—The North German Gazette (semi-official) refers to Disraeli's recent denial that certain allusions in his Guildhall speech were applicable to the Arnim affair, and says the explanation is gratifying to all those who are desirous of preventing a misunderstanding between England and Germany.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Weather—Crops.

LONDON, November 17.—The Mark Lane Express says the weather during the past week has been cold. There has been some snow and frost, which has been injurious to pastures, but at the same time has favorably checked wheat, which was getting too luxuriant. The wheat market is improving in tone. A rise of a shilling is noted on the continent.

Another Polar Expedition.

LONDON, November 18.—Disraeli has written a letter to Sir Henry Rawlinson, announcing that the Government, in consequence of representations of the Royal Geographical Society, and other learned bodies, has determined to organize a Polar exploring expedition without delay.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Argentine Revolution.

PARIS, November 17.—La Liberte to-day admits that the announcement that a compromise had been effected between the Government of Buenos Ayres and the insurgents was false.

PERSONAL.

City Treasurer Magee has gone to New York to investigate the forged bond story.

Rev. Mr. Coleman, of the United Presbyterian church, on Fourteenth street, South Side, tendered his resignation to his congregation on Sunday morning last.

Samuel F. Patterson, Esq., of this county, and John E. Faunce, of Philadelphia, are the Democratic candidates for the speakership of the House at Harrisburg the coming session.

Hon. E. C. Campbell, late President Judge of Fayette county, is in the city attending the present session of the Supreme Court. He is the guest of J. V. Long, of Allegheny.

Sam. Josephs, of Philadelphia, arrived in the city yesterday, for the purpose, it is said, of laying Senatorial ropes for Clymer.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

It does seem as though Lawrence Barrett would draw, even if the heavens poured down bucketsful of water. The audience he played to last night, and such a night, was a compliment paid to but few actors, and of that fact Mr. Barrett is no doubt fully aware. The play of "Money" was produced and gave as much genuine satisfaction as when it was presented last Friday night. It honestly represents how much of flattery, position and worthless friendship money wins for man, and how he loses all when his fortune is gone. The author of the drama strained no point for the sake of effect. It is thoroughly natural throughout, being a faithful story of what transpires in our very midst, and Mr. Barrett, whose knowledge of the world is great, appreciating the motives that prompt the actions of many men, and wholly recognizing the author's idea, gave such a faultless, finished Alfred Evelyn that a better personation could not have been asked. The Graves of Mr. Owen was indeed excellent, as was Mr. Ellsler's Sir John Vesey, Mr. Price's Blount and Miss Troy's Clara Douglass. The entire company did well; very well. Much better than on Monday night.

This evening Julius Caesar will be presented.

Grace Greenwood and Mrs. Ames.

The elocutionary entertainment given by Grace Greenwood and Mrs. Ames at Library Hall last evening, was attended by an audience that crowded the Hall down stairs and filled the balcony. The programme embraced humorous selections by Grace Greenwood, and dramatic by Mrs. Ames, and was of a character to give generally unqualified enjoyment. Mrs. Ames has a fine stage presence, and is a model of graceful dignity. Her dressing for the different characters she assumed was characterized by richness and elegant taste. She has a well modulated, sonorous voice, and reads with a full appreciation of the sentiment. Her rendering of Tennyson's "Bugle Song" was an exquisitely finished recitation—a perfect gem. In Poe's "Raven" and "Wounded to Death" she also appeared to great advantage, and was heartily applauded. She also read "High Tide at Lincolnshire," some selections from the "School for Scandal," which were full of graceful expression, and selections from "Macbeth" which were good, but hardly realized the full beauty and force of the sphinx-like character of Lady Macbeth. To Grace Greenwood was assigned the humorous part of the programme, and it went off with scarcely a flaw. Mrs. Lippincott, as she appeared last night, was the embodiment of Yankee shrewdness and vivacity, and her sallies created as much merriment as would have been evoked by the liveliest farce. She read "Love in a Bindery" with an artless grace that won her friends from the first. The Deacon's story of the Parson's crime, was rendered in costume, and was excellent. "Over the Hill to the Poor House" was rendered somewhat more effective by the addition of scenery, and would have been perfect but that it was perhaps a shade too forcible for a lady of venerable years. "Miss Tabitha Tattle" was the closing selection, in which Miss Tabitha said her mission was one of an "investigating" character and she had pursued it with such persistency and success that she knew all the family secrets in Buttonville, and really had been sent for to investigate something about Water Bonds in Pittsburgh—a hit that brought down the house. Her reading of "The New Church Organ" was, perhaps, her finest performance. Her quaint style, Yankee accent, and happy faculty of bringing out the hits made her recitations very amusing and enjoyable. Altogether, the entertainment was unique in its character, but a success that we are sure the audience would like to have often repeated.

The Tennesseeans.

The Tennesseeans drew a large audience to the North Avenue Church last night, the house being filled and the audience as enthusiastic in their praise as any previous one. The troupe goes from here to Philadelphia.

Musical and Dramatic Notes.

"VARIETY SHOWS" fail to attract the ladies of this city.

THE engagement of Miss Effie Ellsler, at the Opera House next week promises to be a grand success.

"JULIUS CAESAR," with Barrett, Gotthold and Ellsler in the caste, at the Pittsburgh Opra House to-night.

MRS. GENERAL LANDER, the widow of as gallant an officer as ever wore the army blue, is playing in the "School for Scandal," at Ford's, in Baltimore.

THE Opera House, Library Hall and the entertainment given by the Slave Cabin Singers, were patronized last evening by attended fashonable and appreciative audiences.

MISS ADELAIDE NEILSON told a reporter of the Washington Republican recently that she had been engaged by Mr. Strakosch for 100 nights at $500 a night, acting wherever he directs. She also said she was studying the characters of Cleopatra and Lady Macbeth, having already spent six years on the latter.

THE air is thick with rumors that Albani is engaged to young Mr. Gye, son of the well known London operatic manager, and is now in this city. But the charming diva declares that she has no intention of placing her beautiful neck in the matrimonial noose. And why should she? A young lady receiving $750 a night in gold, three nights in the week, should not be in any hurry to change her name or state.

BREVITIES.

Paragraphic Pencilings of Passing Events.

····The City Hall Auditors meet this morning at ten o'clock.

····It is just one year since the Nation Trust Company closed its doors.

····The proposed reduction in the salaries of city officers and employes will aggregate nearly $100,000.

····While in chase of a man, in Pleasant Valley, Allegheny, early yesterday morning, officer Frank Campbell badly sprained one of his ankles.

····A young son of John Snyder, who resides on Mulberry alley, was run over by a Penn avenue street car on Monday evening and severely injured.

····The residence of Mr. Kerner, No. 30 Ohio street, Allegheny, was entered on Monday night, and clothing carried off to the value of about seventy-five dollars.

····The Howard-Lowry Investigating Committee, which has been in a dormant state for some time, will open the winter campaign on Thursday night with a grand double shuffle.

····Wm. Ayers, the negro who was arrested on Monday night for attempting to outrage a young lady near East Liberty, was committed for trial yesterday by Deputy Mayor Irwin.

····David Gannon, at whose door is laid the charge of having stolen a carpet-sack containing a quantity of clothing from Miss Hattie Hamilton, was committed to jail yesterday for trial.

····Chas. Dalzell, who was arrested yesterday morning by Lieutenant Sol. Coulson, for stealing crackers from S. S. Marvin & Co., was committed to jail by the Acting Mayor for trial at court.

····Appearances at present writing would indicate that our usually very reliable weather prophet is a little off in his prediction that there is little hope of a river for practical uses this month.

····On Sunday last while Mr. Connor, of Upper St. Clair township, and his wife were at church, thieves entered their dwelling and stole eighty-five dollars in money and a lot of clothing and provisions.

····The United States Supreme Court has decided that banks have no liens on stock or dividends. In other words they cannot seize the stock and dividends of a bankrupt stockholder to secure their claim.

····An information was made by Owen Walters before Deputy Mayor Barker, of the South Side, charging Henry and Owen McDonald with assaulting him on last Sunday night during a disturbance in the Twenty-fourth ward, mention of which has been made in our columns.

····At a meeting of the sub-Water Committee of Allegheny, held yesterday, the specifications for making the proposed improvements to the water reservoir were thoroughly examined and approved. The committee will advertise for proposals for making the improvements.

····There seems to be quite a good deal of anxiety among the South Side citizens as to whether the puddlers will accept the proposition made them by the manufacturers, which materially reduces their wages. If they do not comply with the requirements, it is said, a number of mills will necessarily shut down.

····A quartette of roughs who figure on the Allegheny watch house docket as John Quinn, Thomas Daly, John Gephart and Peter Gallagher, made a raid on the dwelling of John Brown (colored) near Franz's brick yard on Monday night and created considerable exitement. They went to the workhouse.

····The depositors meeting of the Nation Trust Company which was to have been held in Ralston's School house, corner of Penn avenue and Fifteenth street, last evening, was postponed until some future time. About twenty-five of the depositors came together, which was insufficient to transact any busiesns.

····Yesterday afternoon as some boys were playing in Robert Orr's stable, on Hezlep's alley, near Pearl street, Allegheny, one of them, Charles Lawman, got too close to the horse and it kicked him on the forehead, knocking him down and inflicting a severe wound. He was removed to his home on Benton alley and medical aid summoned.

····An inquest was held between one and two o'clock Tuesday night on the body of Thomas Reddick, who died very suddenly at Henry Elkins' saloon on Penn avenue, about ten o'clock in the evening. A verdict of "death from intemperance and exposure" was rendered. Deceased was a mill-hand, thirty-eight years of age, and leaves a widow with two or three children.

····About two o'clock yesterday afternoon, a horse attached to milk wagon, which was standing on East, near First street, Allegheny, became frightened and ran off down Ohio street, and before it was stopped nearly ruined the wagon. Another horse attached to a wagon, which was standing near where the runaway started, was frightened by the dashing animal, and ran off also, but in an opposite direction, and it too succeeded in damaging the vehicle before it was checked.

PURE HONEY.
We are now engaged in putting up in Glass Packages a Perfectly Pure Article of Comb Honey.
We are regularly in receipt of supplies from California, Ohio, Virginia, and other points. We buy direct from the most reliable producers, and it is our intention to maintain the Standard of our Goods, so that our Name upon the Packages will be a guarantee to the consumer that they are really getting honey in its purity.
So much Adulterated and Impure Honey has heretofore been offered for sale that many persons think it an impossibility to procure a Pure Article unless they buy it in the original boxes, and in that way they have to pay as much per pound for the glass and wood composing the boxes for the honey, which makes it very expensive.
We put it up actual net weight in one, two and three pound packages, and in a short time it will be found for sale in all the principal Retail Groceries in this vicinity.

BONDS at Frankfort 97⅜.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 23f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 111⅜.

MYERS confesses to participating in the murder of Walz, but claims that Murray fired the shot. Ortwein's case, however, proves that confession does not necessarily lead to hanging.

FERNANDO WOOD will not have plain sailing for the Speakership—the Western and Northwestern Democrats claiming that they should have the Speakership of the next House of Representatives.

THE reported disagreement between the President and Senator Cameron turns out just as we expected. The Harrisburg Telegraph gives the quietus to the matter in this manner:—"Senator Cameron visited Washington last week, to look up a lodging for the coming session; and reading this telegram on Saturday, we concluded to go to his house, on his return home, and get the particulars of the reported 'difference of opinion' between the President and himself. The Senator's answer was very conclusive, but not surprising. He said: 'There is not a word of truth in that report. I sat a half hour talking to the President, and politics were never once alluded to during all the time I remained in his company.'"

WE imagine the Chicago Tribune has been imposed upon. It editorially declares that our iron manufacturers are in "hot water" over the probability of specie resumption. The Tribune makes just two mistakes in all this. In the first place there is no evidence whatever that specie resumption has been brought any nearer by the recent Democratic victories. If it has any proof to submit on that question, we will be glad to see it. And second, we have yet to know of a manufacturer in this city who either deprecates or fears it. When the question is up at all, here, the only demand is that we shall have enough currency of some kind for the business of the country; but the feeling is more favorable than otherwise to specie.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean enters into a detailed history of the Smith-Garland imbroglio in Arkansas, and claims that Baxter's abdication in favor of Garland was part of a Democratic programme to seize the State. Baxter and Smith were elected Governor and Lieutenant Governor in 1872, for four years. The Legislature elected at the same time was Republican,—recognized as such both by Hadley the outgoing, and Baxter, the incoming Governor. The Legislature took no action on the question of amending the State Constitution, or of creating a new one. A new Legislature, illegally elected, met on the 16th of May, 1874,—six months ago, and passed a bill providing for a Convention to frame a new Constitution. The whole proceeding was illegal, from beginning to end, and hence it is claimed, there was no vacancy, and hence, as Baxter abandoned the office, Smith becomes the Governor. This is the argument put forth, and it has force. Yet as Baxter was practically a Democrat, we see no special gain to the Democrats, and we judge the President is sufficiently wearied with the political troubles in the South to let them fight it out in Arkansas.

THE report of General Humphries, of surveys and estimates for the improvement of the navigation of the Ohio river, shows that the engineer department is fully prepared to enter upon that work, so far as the adoption of plans, methods, and estimates go. The amount asked for, in behalf of the preliminary work, is so moderate that we cannot think Congress will hesitate to respond favorably. This entire question of transportation will come prominently before Congress at its next session, and no phase of the subject will be more important than that of the improvement of the Ohio river. While the Commission has rendered valuable service by looking up the facts and collating statistics, we believe too little attention has been given to the arousing of popular interest. The subject is almost, if not quite equally important with that of the protection of our iron industries, and were it properly brought to the attention of the people, would command as deep and absorbing interest. Pittsburgh has really been too modest in presenting her claims to the attention of Congress. Other cities of less importance, and bodies of water of little value have been aided by the General Government and Pittsburgh put aside. Our new Chamber of Commerce will, we hope, have a hand in this subject.

REV. DR. WASHBURN, of Constantinople, Turkey, takes exceptions to some of the valuable diplomatic correspondence, published by order of our Secretary of State, Mr. Fish. It seems that one M. Vidal, United States Consul at Tripoli, has reached the conclusion that the operations of the agents of the American Bible Society are not as useful in Bulgaria and Roumania, or both,—if indeed, he has not confused the two, imagining Bulgaria to be a town in Roumania,—as they would be on the coast of Africa, Tripoli, for example, and so has written our religious-minded Secretary on the subject, "an' faith he prents it." This valuable and suggestive correspondence is even emphasized with a very voluminous index, in which the demerits of the Bible Society are pungently described. Dr. Washburn pronounces the several statements made to be untrue, and to have been derived from a Paris publication of nearly two years ago! We suppose the mass of correspondence reaching the State Department prevents a very close analysis of the several letters written, but it is presumable that when this correspondence is edited for the public, it is attempted to be carefully one. At all events the Department is usually careful to avoid publishing important diplomatic secrets. Ought it not to be equally careful to avoid publishing the impertinent strictures of an ignorant Consul on an important and well conducted American institution?

WE publish this morning another criticism on our "Irish Letter," in reference to Messrs. Moody and Sankey,—although we think the letter from New Brighton, published in our yesterday's issue, in rather better temper and a more forcible answer to our Dublin correspondent. The correction of actual misstatements is entirely right and proper; but the exhibition of questionable temper over what, atmost, was a mere estimate and criticism of Messrs. Moody and Sankey's method of conducting religious services, seems to us not entirely commendable. We are not as thoroughly educated religiously as we might be, if we cannot permit a person who may view even religious worship from a different standpoint than our own, to express his estimate of a given service without our becoming angered over it. We may here say that none entertain higher respect for, or have more earnest wishes for, the success of Messrs. Moody and Sunky than do we. From what we know of our Dublin correspondent, we are persuaded he has been misinformed in some respects, as we know he is not capable of willingly doing injustice to any. We say this much in fairness to him. We have given the same prominence to a reply to what one correspondent said that we did to his article, and this reply seems to us to cover every point, and to do it in a perfectly proper manner. Therefore, while we publish two more letters, any additional articles would only be sure to controvert what has been already answered, and this, all reasonable persons will admit, is unnecessary.

THE effect of the tariff on the price of imported goods in this country forms one of the most interesting phases of the discussion on that question. The Chicago Tribune, as is usual with free trade journals, takes the position that all the tariff is added to the price of goods imported, and that thus the consumer pays a tax equal to the entire sum of duties imposed. The Inter-Ocean proves to a demonstration that this is not the case. The following is in point: "The fiscal year 1863 was the last in which the duty on pig iron was $6 per ton. During that year we imported 31,007 tons, at an invoice value, in the aggregate, of $43,194, giving an average cost of about $14.04 per ton. On the first day of July, 1864, the duty was raised to $9 per ton by the act of June 30th immediately preceding. We imported during the fiscal year 1864 to the amount of 102,223 tons, at an aggregate invoice value of $1,288,424, making the average cost about $12.60 per ton. Now, if it be true that the duty is a tax to the precise amount of the levy, and is always added to the price, why should our importers have been able to buy pig iron in the foreign market at an average of $12.60 per ton, under a $9 duty, yet have to pay an average of $14.04 under a $6 duty? Considering the higher first cost to the importer, under the lower duty, it is probable that some of the transportation charges were greater, as, for instance, that of insurance; but allowing them to have been exactly equal in both cases, then duty and invoice cost, under the $6 duty, amounted to $20.04, and under the $9 duty to $21.60 showing a difference of only $1.56 laid down in port of destination. How, under these circumstances, could the increase of tariff from six to nine dollars per ton operate to add three dollars per ton to the selling price? or, the duty and invoice cost being gold values, to add the currency equivalent of three dollars, coin, to the currency price? On the contrary, the case plainly shows that the foreign producer shared the payment of the duty with the American importer, the former paying $1.43 and the latter $1.56 of the amount." So it is true that the tariff is not a tax on the American people.

RECONSTRUCTION.

If the outcome of the recent elections shall be the development of a judicial spirit among the people, in place of the old and bitter party feeling, we may have fruit in the rehabilitation of the South that will be exceedingly important. After all that may be said, it must be admitted that the South is in a very unfortunate condition, and that her material prosperity has been greatly retarded by political disagreements and complications. In the heat of partisan strife, efforts have been made on both sides to avoid responsibility, and in the struggles thus made several complications have been developed, which have served to confuse the public mind as to the party really responsible. Our view is, and has been, that the responsibility is mixed, and that both parties have sought, selfishly, to gain absolute control of affairs. The old planter element, trained as it had been, to regard itself as the superior class, and to wield absolute power, could not readily forego the idea that it should not continue to rule. Yet the negroes and the whites who emigrated South were generally in the majority as against the planters and poor whites, and assumed, in virtue of this fact, the exercise of power. This offended the planter class who, having control over the poor whites expressed their displeasure by organizing Kuklux and later White League bands, and sought to gain by violence what they could not reach by the ballot. Hence they did their full share toward preventing reconstruction,—being governed by the purpose to rule or ruin. On the other hand, there were, among the immigrants or "carpet-baggers," characterless persons who chose to use the occasion and opportunity for personal advantages. Having gained power, they enriched themselves. The two evils antagonized the populations, and to-day the feeling is a little better than at the close of the war. Yet we regard this double evil as a natural result of the rebellion, that could only have been avoided by conferring unrestricted power on the class that was dominant at the South before the war; and this would have been unjust to the colored race. General Armstrong, of Hampton Normal Institute, Virginia, who seems to have reached a conclusion similar to ours, but through a different process of reasoning, says of the present situation, and its needs:

> The angry feeling over much of this country is as a consuming fire to any political structure; it must be, if possible, put out. Let better men be placed in power, let the wards of the nation be cared for as being sunk in ignorance and moral degradation, and something besides their votes be looked after; let a generous land or money grant be made by Congress in aid of the Southern school systems which aim at the education equally of all classes, for the poor white is as needy morally and mentally as the black man; let the mixed school agitation subside, for it means, apparently, destruction to common schools; it has already seriously crippled some of the ablest workers in this cause, and it has among its advocates in this and other States the bitterest opponents of free schools, because it will destroy them and restore the old regime; let the colored man be assured of his equality before the law, and the negro question be put forever out of politics by a just settlement of it.

The methods of elevating and relieving the South, here suggested, are: Schools, and the abandonment of the Civil Rights bill. In our judgment, the first proposition is good and the second bad. The South is gradually improving in its educational facilities, through the operations of the Peabody trust, and the educational measures employed by various religious and benevolent organizations. But the history of the administration of these trusts shows that the passage of the Civil Rights bill will be of advantage to the South. The Peabody fund is used to aid States in the work of common school education. In proportion as States apply funds of their own to educational purposes, they are aided; and where by the lack of appropriations they evince carelessness or positive opposition, they are left without aid. The reports of the Peabody agents show that until within about a year, there was little difficulty as regards the co-education of white and black; but with the advent of the Civil Rights bill, which does not require co-education, but merely equal advantages for white and black, the subject was given a political turn. That all the agitation was for a political purpose, is thus proven by the facts of history, since the war. The exact reason why the Civil Rights bill should be insisted on, is that the late upheaval is designed to curtail the rights of the colored race.

We think it is also clear that the development of educational facilities is progressing at a healthful pace, in most parts of the South. Could the race question be taken out of politics greater progress might be made; and we believe the only way to do this is to pass the Civil Rights bill. The purpose and meaning of it is, to put the blacks on the same plane as the whites, in their struggle for advancement. Pass that bill, and the race agitation is ended; and until it is passed, it will probably be kept up. If it be true that President Grant has determined to veto the Civil Rights bill, we suspect it will be because of views gathered from the standpoint of his relation to the Peabody fund. But the Civil Rights bill is, and should be regarded as a pacificator, rather than a cause for fresh trouble. It will be the end of all legislation on that question. In the meantime, unless appearances are deceiving, the colored race will work out the educational problem for themselves. They evince more interest and energy in educational subjects than do the whites at the South. Thus reconstruction, despite the apparent antagonisms is making real progress, and will be complete with the subsiding of local political agitations.

MESSRS. MOODY AND SANKEY.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PITTSBURGH, Nov., 17, 1874.

On the editorial page of Monday's issue appeared a singular letter from your Dublin correspondent. Were it not for the prominence given it, or were its references to Messrs. Moody and Sankey merely a personal matter, it would receive only a passing notice and provoke little criticism. But in its whole tone it is so thorough a misrepresentation of a wonderful religious movement, that it has been read by many with indignation.

Its insinuations are mean, especially coming from one who writes as a gentleman of refinement criticising a coarse performance of low and ill-bred men.

Its slurs upon honest endeavors to acquaint men with Christ, even if those efforts do offend one's taste, are so unseemly that this letter certainly must have escaped supervision, or it could never have seen the light in your columns. The whole letter is a gross insult to at least a score of ministers and to hundreds of men and women in our own cities who time and again have welcomed both these gentlemen to public religious work and would gladly welcome them again.

Your correspondent acknowledges his ignorance of the men of whom he writes in such terms of condemnation. He is too poorly informed to write for Pittsburgh readers. Mr. Moody is not an educated man, in the common sense of that term. But men of a great deal of force of character in this city can sympathize with him in this, and will not deem it in very good taste to condemn an honest effort to do good on the ground of grammatical errors. Those who are familiar with Mr. Moody's speaking, and these are not few among your readers, know that he appeals to the emotions only when, after strong argument and logic, he would enforce the truth which he has carefully presented. All such readers will be very slow to believe your correspondent in his fancy sketch of a sermon that he himself says he reports only from hearsay. Such readers and all who know what the Scotch character is, will very likely question the judgment of your correspondent and not admit it as final in the face of the tremendous upheaval in Scotland, and the full and hearty sympathy and approval of thousands of prominent men in all the Scotch churches. They will be loath to believe that a hard matter of-fact people, grounded in the Scriptures as no other people on the earth, have become simply wild over the erratic performances of two illiterate showmen, who had as their principal advantage that they were well advertised. They will probably remember that in the early days of the Christian Church, unlearned and ignorant men spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost, and though the Jewish Sanhedrim and Councils condemned them, and the taste of many was offended, God was pleased that by such weak men and by such despised men the world should be turned upside down.

We do not wonder that W. K. thinks it necessary to insert a shabby kind of apology in this strange letter and to say that perhaps he ought not to judge of this whole movement from a single hearing—a movement which thoughtful men throughout Christendom deem to be one of the most wonderful of the century.

A single word as to one statement that is false, though we do not know that a gentleman in a foreign land ought to heap opprobrium upon one of his fellow citizens because he has lifted himself from a low position to one of prominence and power for good, even if such were the case, yet the statement that Mr. Sankey was a member of a colored minstrel troupe at home, is false. Your columns of to-day (Tuesday) have given the facts as to his parentage and his residence in New Castle, Pa. His record is honorable, and one which he need not care to hide. It is not surprising that the uncalled-for slur upon his name and character has aroused a feeling of resentment on the part of his friends.

Only one word more as to one of the insinuations of this "Irish Letter." A matter of mere rumor is recited, and these two gentlemen are not only held up to ridicule, but are charged by innuendo with being agents for the sale of an American organ, and making money by the sale of hymns. Mr. Sankey alone is mentioned, but if the statement were true, this business would be carried on only with Mr. Moody's consent. His record would free him from such a charge from any one who knew what he was writing about. So careful has he been, that no suspicion of money-making could attach to his name, that during his present visit to Great Britain he has returned to the Baroness Burdett-Coutts a gift of one thousand pounds, and positively refused to have anything to do with a friendly testimonial, which, before he had heard of it, had reached double that amount. Men who have declined fifteen thousand dollars ought not to be charged with prostituting religious work for paltry gain.

The cry against sensational preaching is very loud and bitter. Might not something be said about sensational criticism?

Very respectfully, K.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17, 1874.

In your paper of Monday, a letter appeared from your special correspondent in Dublin, which is calculated to give the public a wrong impression with regard to the men and means which are being used in carrying on the greatest revival of modern times.

I will not say that your correspondent intended to misrepresent the character of the present awakening in Scotland, but I speak knowingly when I say that he does not give a fair and impartial account of the means employed in this work.

Your correspondent having attended one meeting, and that simply as a critic, assumes the right to pass judgment upon the whole movement.

I have had the privilege of attending not one of Mr. Moody's meetings only, but thirty or forty of them. I was in Edinburgh during the entire time of Moody and Sankey's visit to that city. I have heard and read the opinions of the most prominent professors, ministers and laymen in Scotland and England, and I can bear testimony to the fact that these meetings do not belong to the "sensational" or the "burlesque." These meetings are simply companies of earnest, anxious men and women drawn together to hear the old, simple story of the Cross, related in a plain, unassuming manner, by one whose heart is burning with intense love for his Master and an ardent desire to win souls; and to hear the same gospel proclaimed in song by one who has consecrated his musical talent to the service of Christ. To one who attends these meetings for the purpose of criticising, it is very easy to find fault with some peculiarities in the manner of conducting them, or to detect some grammatical errors in the speaker, but it is not so easy to ignore the fact that these men have been instrumental in bringing hundreds and thousands to a saving knowledge of Christ, and in reviving and stimulating the Christian people of Great Britain. Messrs. Moody and Sankey's "proceedings" may be "loathsome" and disgusting to the highly "cultured" and "refined" mind of your correspondent, and yet I venture to say that there are no two men, living at the present time, who have a stronger hold upon the affection and esteem of the educated Christian community of Scotland than these same Evangelists.

To compare the services of these men to the performances of a minstrel troupe, and the deep and wide-spread interest they have awakened to that of the "Black Crook," may serve to make a letter readable and interesting to a certain class of people, but it will certainly not elevate the writer in the estimation of intelligent Christian men and women. I was glad to see in this morning's paper a letter from an intimate friend of Mr. Sankey, in which he defends the reputation of Mr. Sankey, and corrects the uncalled-for misrepresentations of your correspondent. Such insinuations will have but little weight where Mr. Sankey is known. But I will not trespass further on your space. I would not have noticed this letter, had it not been that I feared it would leave a false impression on the minds of many with regard to the character of a revival which has not been equaled since the days of Whitefield. Certainly the names of such men as Arnot, Spurgeon, Bonar, Calderwood, Rainy, Cuyler and many others,—men who have most heartily endorsed this movement, and most strongly encouraged and stimulated the leaders in it—should be sufficient to convince the most skeptical as to the genuineness and efficiency of the present work of grace in Great Britain. LIKE the stories of "William Tell" and "Cinderella" and "Whittington and His Cat," &c., the story of the benevolent old gentleman who pays the postage on letters turns out mere myth. Mr. J. Those who were nearest the ground floor ran for the door, but the forward ones were tripped by a corded mat in the entry, the result being a confused piling of a mass of children in the crowded and narrow passage. The teachers soon reached the place, and by their efforts restored order. Two of the girls of ten or twelve years of age were found to be so much hurt that after their parents were summoned they were sent home in carriages.

A JAPANESE EXECUTION.

(Correspondence of the Japan Gazette.)

HAKADOTE, Sept. 27, 1874.—On Friday evening notice was given to the consuls that at 9 o'clock A. M. of the day following Tazak Hidechika would be sentenced for the murder of the late Mr. Haber, Acting German Consul at this port, and that he would be executed at 10 o'clock in the jail inclosure. The sentence was read at the Saibansho, in the presence of the foreign consuls, Chief of Foreign Affairs, and Chief of Police. The prisoner was made to kneel with his head about four inches from the floor, so that he could not see the judge. It was agreed by Minister von Brandt and the Japanese authorities at Yedo that Tazaki Hidechika should be executed privately within the prison walls, believing that the ends of justice should be best promoted by this course, as the prisoner might, if any opportunity was offered, exhibit unseemly bravado. In bowing to signify that he understood, he struck his head against the floor, and as soon as his sentence was pronounced, he was rudely shoved out of the door, which was banged after him with great violence, the officer seeming to think that noise served to make the scene impressive. The prisoner was carried to the place of execution in a kago, guarded by twelve policemen. Inside, and in one corner of the prison inclosure, was a kind of small court, surrounded by a high wall and fence. At one side sat the witnesses, consisting only of the three foreign consuls and several native officers. In the middle was a trench, about six inches deep and three feet in length. The murderer was soon brought in blindfolded, and by the side of the trench; an officer then loosed his cords and tacked the clothes down about the neck, laid bare one knee, and arranged the hair, during which time the prisoner occasionally mumbled something, apparently addressed to the executioner, giving directions about his clothes. He looked pale, but did not seem much concerned. Two executioners stood by with their swords, which were dipped in water. First executioner advanced and struck, missing his aim and close to the shoulders; the body fell forward, with the head in the trench, seeming to suffer much. A second blow was struck, and then the assistant executioner advanced and delivered a heavy blow, which, being unsuccessful, a fourth attempt to sever the head from the body was made but failed. One executioner then took the head by the hair, and began to saw the head off with his sword in a most horrible manner, but was stopped by the chief officer. Water was thrown on the face, and in order to show the face to the witnesses, the head not being entirely severed, it was necessary to partially lift the body up with it. The body was covered with a mat, and Taziki Hidechika had met his due reward. The time occupied by the decapitation was two minutes. As the head was not severed from the body as per sentence and according to Japanese custom, the question may be raised as to whether the failure was intentional or not, as Hidechika may have preferred to suffer more to having his head cut entirely off; as to the Japanese idea of disgrace I am entirely ignorant. Notice of the execution was posted in one place, written in Japanese.

MADE TO KNEEL ON A MAT

"FOR PEOPLE WITHOUT CHILDREN."

FROM THE GERMAN OF SCHNEPDGEEKND.

Could heartlessness much further go?
Or meanness well be meaner?
Read the advertisement below,
From Monday morning's Gleaner:
"A stately residence to let,
With all conveniences replete,
For people without children."

Whoe'er the cruel sentence wrote
Has outraged Christ's injunction:
(Suffer them and forbid them not)
Doubtless with small compunction.
Go, tell the wicked man, in sooth,
How cold his words—nay, how uncouth—
"For people without children."

He pats his dog and pets his cat;
For them he has caresses;
But children must not cross his mat:
The best of pets he misses.
How blithe is life 'ere youth is gone;
And yet how desolate, how lone
"For people without children."

Half wasted were the many joys
Which Heaven upon us showers,
If't were not for our girls and boys,
Our sprigs and buds and flowers!
Such thoughts, I ween, may not come nigh
To those who have a single eye
"For people without children."

Your next advertisement may date
From more contracted powers;
Four low, dank walls with narrow gate,
Which opes on Lethe's waters,
'Ere then, improve the time in store;
Relent and open wide your door
To people, who have children.

PHOTOGRAPH CELEBRITIES.

The demand for the BROOKLYN CELEBRITIES, is so great that I have perfected arrangements for supplying them in any quantity, from one picture to one hundred thousand. The photographs are splendid, mounted artistically on buff mounts, corners rounded, and name printed under each picture. I will send you any one named, as a sample for 10 cents. I will send you any three you may name for 25 cents. I will send you the whole nine for 50 cents.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher,
Theodore Tilton,
Francis D. Moulton,
Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton,
Miss Victoria Woodhull,
Miss Tennie C. Claflin,

Making six of the leading Brooklyn Scandal Celebrities and three Photographs of the most laughable puzzles ever gotten up, entitled

NEST HUNTING, Puzzle,
CHIVALROUS REBEL, Puzzle,
WAR WIDOW, Puzzle.

There is more fun, amusement and side splitting laughter in these three puzzle photographs than there is in anything that costs ten times as much. Send 10 cents for one, 25 cents for three, or 50 cents for the whole nine, and I will send them by mail, postpaid.

Write name and address plain. Liberal discount to the trade. Agents can make a fortune selling these photographs, they retail for 25 cents everywhere. Address, T. A. EDWARDS, 27 Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, November 18, 1874.

The storm of yesterday, while a grateful event to the coal men, and really of much importance to the general financial interests of the city, as, if we have a coal rise, nearly two millions of dollars will draw to this city by the sale of coal,—impeded general business, and drew down the list of applications at the banks. Still, no change in the general situation remains to be noted.

The meeting this afternoon of the sub-committees of ironmasters and puddlers, is important to the business interests of the city, as involving the question of the continuance or stoppage of our mills. We really hope our puddlers will not be influenced by outside persons, but will consider the interests of their homes and families, and so arrange as to prevent a lock-out.

—The total of anthracite coal marketed for the week ending on the 7th instant amounted to 413,178 tons, and for the coal year, 16,358,541 tons, against 17,209,502 tons to corresponding time last year, being a decrease of 850,961 tons. The bituminous tonnage for the week is 72,394 tons, and for the year 2,887,534 tons, against 2,876,675 tons to same time last year, giving a total of all kinds for the week of 515,572 tons, and for the year of 19,248,075 tons, against 20,086,177 tons to the same time last year, being a decrease of 838,102 tons. At Port Richmond for the week ending the 14th inst. the receipts of coal were 65,000 tons, the shipments 49,000 tons, leaving 120,500 tons on hand. The coal and coke tonnage of the Pennsylvania Railroad last week was 157,684 tons, and for the year 2,761,728. Of anthracite and bituminous there were 2,355,709 tons, and of coke 407,013 tons. This includes the tonnage of coal both east and west. Vessels during the past week have been in fair supply, with freights ruling steady at $1.35@1.40 to Providence, $1.60@1.75 to Boston, and 95 cents to New York. The tonnage for the first week of the present month is off a little from that of the previous week, and the probability is that it will weekly lessen to the end of the coal year, which for several of the large coal carrying companies will be the 30th of the present month. The supply of coal at the principal coal centres is quite full, so full, in fact, that the companies in the combination have agreed to reduce production for the month of November 25 per cent., notwithstanding the trade during part of the last month was checked by a short supply of water at the mines. The present prices of coal for the wholesale trade will undergo no further change this year.

—Since Treasurer Spinner's resumption of bank note redemption, he requires banks to forward greenbacks to keep up the five per cent. fund, instead of allowing them to forward other notes to be redeemed. This will, of course, tend to keep him more fully supplied with the means for redemption than under the old practice.

—The Boston Advertiser of Saturday says the volume of trade in cotton fabrics has not perceptibly increased, although the cool weather has strengthened the market to some extent, and there are encouraging signs of good busines for the next six weeks.

NEW YORK, November 17, 1874.

The Treasury disbursements were $139,000, and the customs receipts 197,0 0. The produce exports for the week were $5,365,249. Money was firmer at 3½@4. Commercial paper is unchanged. Gold opened and closed at 111⅛, with sales at 111⅜. The carrying rates were 1 per cent.; borrowing rates 1@7 per annum to 1-32 per day. The clearings were $51,000,000. Sterling was weak and lower at 485½@485¾ for sixty days and 489½@489¾ for sight. State bonds were active and higher. Railroad bonds were quiet and firm. Government bonds were steady. Stocks generally were weak and lower. The decline at the close of business reached ½@1½ per cent. The widest fluctuations were in Missouri Pacific and Atlantic & Pacific preferred, which were exceptions to the general decline. The former rose from 41 to 48½, declined to 46, and closed at 47. The latter rose from 14½ to 16¾, and closed at 16. Lake Shore and Wabash each declined 1⅛, Northwest preferred 1 per cent., Pacific Mail and Northwest common ⅞ each. The sales of the day aggregated 240,000 shares, of which 21,000 were Western Union, 15,000 Pacific Mail, 6,000 New York Central, 5,000 Erie, 52,000 Lake Shore, 23,000 Union Pacific, 26,000 Northwestern common, 5,000 do. preferred, 23,000 St. Paul, 13,000 Wabash, 33,000 Ohios, and 5,000 Atlantic & Pacific preferred.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH DAILY MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, Nov. 17, 1874.

Outdoor business was restricted considerably today in consequence of the inclemency of the weather, although, as is well known, it has not been much at best for some time past. There was a much firmer feeling in the grain markets, especially as regards Corn and Oats, under the influence of the advices from the west, and the same will apply to the hog product, and for the same cause. The grocery trade continues quiet, and, in general produce, trade is not what is usually is at this season of the year.

APPLES—The arrivals are increasing and stocks steadily accumulating, and the market is dull, although prices remain unchanged, ranging from $1,50 to $2 per bbl for common to fair, and $2,50@3 for prime to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—In kegs, 60 to 65c.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—3½@5c ℔ ℔.

BEANS—Continue dull, with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements; quotable at $1,90@2,25 ℔ bushel, as to quality.

BROOM CORN—It is now a fully established fact that the supply of Broom Corn is far less than last year, and that the recent advance is based on a scarcity elsewhere as well as here. The markets, both East and West, are active at the advance, and the indications point to still higher prices. There is really none for sale in our market at present, what is here is in the hands of manufacturers, who have bought up all they could get, and are eager for more. We quote choice hurl at 10@11c; good short green, 8@9c; red tipped, 7@7½c. Red not wanted.

BUTTER—The demand continues light; the retail dealers are fully supplied by the pedlars, and commission merchants say they are selling very little. We are informed that country store keepers in some sections have large accumulations on hand that will be sent in as soon as an advance over present prices could be realized. Shippers make a great mistake in holding until an advance comes, and then in place of having fresh, sweet Butter, they have strong, low grades, that are unsatisfactory and unprofitable to all who handle it. We quote selections at 28 to 30 cents; prime 25 cents, and fair at 18 to 20c.

CHEESE—The market is quiet but steady, and we can report regular jobbing sales at 16½@17 for Ohio Factory and 17½@18 for New York do.

CRANBERRIES—$10@14 ℔ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—There is but little doing as yet and prices are entirely nominal.

EGGS—Fresh, guaranteed as such, quotable at 28 to 29c, and pickled at 20 to 25c, according to quality or brand.

FLOUR—Continues dull and prices are weak and drooping. Spring wheat flours, $5,75@6 for Wisconsin's and $6,00@6,25 for Minnesotas; winters, $5,75@6,25 for red and $6,75@7 for white. Rye Flour, $5,50@5,75.

GROCERIES—Our dispatches, both from New York and Baltimore, report a stronger feeling in Coffee, without, however, any quotable change in prices. New Orleans Molasses continues to decline, prices have gone down 10@12c ℔ gallon within the past couple of weeks, and, as a natural consequence, Syrups are sympathizing. Sugars continue dull, with a drooping tendency.

GRAIN—There was a good attendance at the Corn Exchange this morning, but the fact that holders were much firmer in their views, especially as regards Corn and Oats, had a tendency to retard business. There is rather more inquiry for Wheat with but little offering, and the market is firmer in tone, although prices remain unchanged—we continue to quote Penna and Ohio red at $1,12@1,15 and amber and white, at $1,18@1,20. Oats were held to-day at an advance of 1@2c ℔ bushel, and we now quote at 59@60 for good mixed and 61@62 for white, as to quality. New ear Corn also firmer; 68@70. New Shelled, 73@75, as to quality and condition. Old Shelled Corn is in light stock, but there is not much call for it. Rye continues quiet, but little offering and not much wanted. No 2 Spring Barley quoted at $1,28@1,25, in Chicago, seller December.

HAY—Baled continues to come in sparingly and prices are firm and advancing; quotable by the car load, at $18@23, according to quality and condition.

POULTRY—This warm, wet weather is very unfavorable for dressed poultry. Live Chickens, 40@50c ℔ pair, by the coop.

PROVISIONS—The market for the hog product continues firm, under the influence of the advices from the West, and while prices have undergone no quotable change since the date of our last report, the tendency, at this writing, is upward. Following are the current rates:

Hams—Extra S. C. ℔ ℔	13	Lard-Prime Leaf in tierces, ℔ ℔	14¼

Mess Pork, ℔ bbl	$21.50	Lard Oil, per gal	$1.08
Lard—Ref. in trcs.	14½	Carbon Oil, per gal
		Cheese, per ℔

POTATOES—Continue to come forward pretty freely, and as the trade generally are well supplied, the market is dull, and prices are barely maintained—some dealers, in preference to making any further reduction, are sacking and storing. Peach Blows are still quoted, on track, in bulk at 80@85c, but we believe that 75@80 would be nearer the actual

ONIONS—$3½@4 ℔ bbl.

RAGS—quiet and unchanged; good mixed, 2½@3 cts; woolen ½c ℔ ℔.

TALLOW—Country 7@7½c; city, 8@8½.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, Nov. 17, 1874.

The Crude market continues to be reported quiet but steady, with sales at Parker, for immediate shipment, at 72½ ℔ bbl. The receipts by rail, although nothing, as compared with what they were during the summer, are larger than they have been since the first of October, and if the river should rise sufficiently to admit of transportation in barges, of which the prospects are favorable at this writing, the arrivals will be much larger still. Refined continues very dull; an Eastern correspondent telegraphed to-day that there did not appear to be any inquiry from any source whatever. New York delivery quoted at 10⅛; Philadelphia, 10⅛; and Baltimore, 10⅛.

What action will now be taken by the Conduit Pipe Company, in view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court, has not yet been demonstrated, but it is not likely that they intend to let the matter drop by any means. This decision, as a matter of course, necessitates delay, but the Company are determined to reach Pittsburgh some way. If one route is denied, they will seek out another.

The Barrel trade continues very dull, and prices are entirely nominal. If navigation is resumed, the arrivals by river will be heavy, adding to the already too large stock here.

New York Breadstuffs Market—Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—This day week we left our Flour market fairly active, more especially the low grades; these were in fair demand for export at hardening prices, the arrivals not being up to the temporary demand; subsequently some improvement was established, under a more general inquiry, but this was of short duration; the absence of steamer room soon checked the inquiry, and the slight advance was speedily lost and prices have since favored the buyer, though without much pressure to realize, as it is well known the stock is limited; in Winter Wheat brands the heaviness and depression have continued, and to effect sales of any considerable "lines" a further concession was made, with very great irregularity in the sales; indeed, we hear of many sales at prices that show the market to be greatly demoralized, and the prices accepted for family brands indicate a very great want of uniformity; in some instances great sacrifices have been made to close out invoices, but since Wednesday the depression has been less marked, most holders evincing a determination to resist any further decline, but the production is far too large of Winter Wheat brands and of Medium Spring Wheat Extras for any trade, either domestic or foreign, to take up this production; hence millers must keep this fact in view, and buy Wheat at prices to correspond with Choice and Fancy State brands. We are well aware that interested parties are constantly counting on some reaction here, but with production still largely in excess of it, millers cannot expect their factors to make satisfactory sales. It should be remembered that the buisness in Winter Wheat Flour is larger in the Summer than during the Winter months, hence with the continued large production, we see no immediate relief faom the present unhealthy state of the market. Medium grades of Minnesota Extras have again declined under liberal offerings. Old Superlative Extras are scarce and have ruled quite firm. "New Patent Process" has been offered more freely, but could not be sold freely, owing to their being so much above the prices of really good Whinter Wheat Family Extras, we allude more especially to brands held at $9 and upward. No 2 and Superfine have been in fair demaed at irregular prices. The exports of the week are 46,944 bbls, against 47,771 bbls the corresponding week last year.

We have had since our last a fairly active but very variable Wheat market, but on the whole the business has been more satisfactory than during the previous week; the decided falling off in the receipts here and in the shipments from the lake ports and in the movement at the West, have exerted a considerable influence, and this, coupled with the more favorable advices from Liverpool, per cable, has given holders a decided advantage and induced more speculative inquiry. A further decline in ocean freights, and some advance in Sterling Exchange, have contributed to the buoyancy and activity. The probable strike of the stevedores and longshoremen, connected with the steamboat lines from this port, which will doubtless occur next Monday, has stimulated shippers to some extent to fill their orders this week, and this has aided the upward movement in Wheat. We added largely to our stock, but as the quantity now on the lakes is limited, and the season for shipment from the upper lakes of Grain likely to reach tide water is over, and consequently with only 1,514,362 bushels, on the canal, we shall not have a very large stock at the close of December. Winter has been held with more steadiness than Spring, and has again advanced considerably, and is very strong at the close, with the stock of Choice Amber and Extra White almost exhausted. We have had a fair demand for Wheat for the Continent, but the business has been light, owing to the extreme prices insisted on, and has restricted the purchases and shipments to 59,380 bushels. We have further advices from Great Britain since our last, and find a confirmation of the information published in our last in regard to the consumption of Wheat by cattle throughout the Kingdom, and it is evident that it is of far greater magnitude than was at first suggested. From Eastern Europe the movement is fair, but not as large as was anticipated, owing to the want of water in the rivers Dneiper and Danube, but the supply for the United Kingdom will, doubtless, prove ample. For some weeks past a Committee of our Board of Trade have endeavored to come to some arrangement with the various railways that terminate here in regard to the transportation and delivery of Grain which would prove materially advantageous to all parties, but they have utterly failed to accomplish the object so much desired. The refusal of the railway companies to guarantee the weight and condition of Grain as received by them, and a refusal to lighter anything less than five cargoes, completely defeated the efforts of the Committee, as these were the chief points at issue. It appears to us that to refuse to guarantee the quantity and condition of the Grain as received by these roads, which is so vital to the business interests of this port, is a blow to this branch of trade that cannot well be estimated; it appears to us to be not only cowardly but dishonest to refuse to do what other roads are doing, and as common carriers they are certainly bound to deliver the quantity received. The vast interest they have at stake, it seems to us, should prompt them to extend the same facilities to our merchants that the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company have extended to the merchants of Baltimore, and thereby prevent a diversion of the trade of the West from this city. It appears to us that the managers of these roads should for the general good sacrifice all personal feeling in the matter. Merchants at the West will no longer submit to losses on their Grain in the quantity—equal to $10@75 ℔ car, and unless there is some guarantee against it the Western trade is lost to this city. There is a considerable falling off in the quantity of Wheat in sight, and this with the colder weather stimulates the demand, and the market closed strong and fairly active; the exports of the week are 288,842 bush, against 807,507 bush the corresponding week last year.—Tribune.

Chicago Provisions Trade—Weekly Review.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The week just closed has witnessed a marked increase in the trading of provisions, mainly of a speculative character. The weather has been cooler and more favorable for slaughtering, yet the amount of each product offered was exceedingly limited. It is understood that considerable product has been contracted for November delivery by the packers, and they have not in the main manufactured sufficient quantities to fill them all, and at the same time meet the current wants of the trade. Our provision dealers daily receive orders from their customers in all sections of the country for the purchase of fully cured meats. It may as well be stated plainly to them that the stock of fully cured meats is exhausted, and small quantities in salt from ten to fifteen days are the oldest which can be obtained. Our brokers are not disposed to purchase these to fill specific orders, and it is impossible to forward meats thirty to forty days old when the winter packing season is only of two weeks' duration. There have been some contracts for November and December delivery, but at figures which show a material improvement, and in keeping with the advance in hogs and in the speculative articles in the provision line. The tone of the foreign provision markets do not, at the present time, warrant dealers in making contracts at current prices, and this accounts for the quiet feeling manifested in the market for such cuts of meat as are suitable for the markets abroad. There is a good inquiry for mess pork for shipment, and packers readily dispose of their manufacture as soon as offered. The distribution is mainly to the Southern markets and the lumber districts. The demand for lard has been urgent, and the aggregate sales for the week are undoubtedly the largest ever recorded in the history of the trade in Chicago. The active inquiry was due mainly to the fact that the hogs are not yielding proportionately as heavy as during previous seasons, that the market is understood to be oversold for the first half of November and for the month, and also that the Eastern and Liverpool markets exhibit a large appreciation in prices. The supply in the principal markets of the country is reported to be light, and held by strong parties. The competition between operators resulted in the establishment of a material advance in values, but the improvement was only partially sustained to the close, including delivery throughout the packing season. Trading in green meats continues light and is confined mainly to hams. The weight this season is comparatively light, and buyers experienced little difficulty in filling orders for suitable averages. This would indicate lighter hogs, but the quality of the supply so far this week shows a marked improvement, and there is but little doubt but the average weight for the month will show an increase over that of the previous one. The receipts have been quite large—leading somewhat to conflicting opinions. Some operators are inclined to the belief that the supply of hogs at this point during the season will exceed that of last, while others contend that the hogs will be marketed early, especially if present prices are maintained, and the packing season close earlier than usual. It is, however, too early in the season to form a correct opinion of the prospects of the season and the course of the market. There is little doubt that foreign buyers are holding off in anticipation of a decline in prices, both for hogs and the product, and the purchases in the open market on their account have been meagre. On the other hand, the markets of this country are, comparatively speaking, bare of the principal articles of provision, as evinced by the daily purchases of car lots for distribution throughout the East and South. Packing at country points has been delayed somewhat by the unfavorable weather, but will be actively prosecuted during the coming week. Advices from the middle portion of Indiana represent the hogs to be quite plenty and in good condition, while reports from the South-east portion indicate that the hogs are not so numerous as anticipated, and not of as good a quality as those of former seasons. This may be due to the fact that packers of some places have contracted for them at low figures and farmers prefer to sell their corn at current figures to fattening their contract hogs for future delivery. In Eastern Iowa packers report they are receiving fair hogs—about 250@260 lbs gross—but they are not yielding lard proportionate to other seasons. The weather for feeding, however, is excellent, and hogs are improving rapidly. They expect the bulk of the hog crop in that section to be marketed between November 25th and December 25. Advices from other sections are meagre, though indicating a falling off in the weight and yield of lard as compared with last season. The exports of provisions continue quite liberal, though understood to be largely of product manufactured on owners' account in different sections of the country, or previously contracted for at lower prices than now prevailing. During the week, quotations for meats in the Liverpool market show a decline of about 3d on all descriptions, while prices of pork and lard show an appreciation of 6s to 6s 6d on the former and 6s on the latter. The quotations for pork in the Liverpool market are now understood to be for new. To-day—The market was quite active during the early part of the day, and prices strong. Orders to purchase were quite numerous, and buyers were compelled to advance their views in order to fill them. The receipts of hogs were quite large but prices were well maintained, which had a considerable influence in establishing values. Toward the close the market was more quiet, but prices exhibited little alteration.—Inter-Ocean.

GEORGE H. ROHE,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

It rained all day yesterday, with indications last evening favorable foo its continuance, and, furthermore, as it appears to be general there is reason to hope for a rise, although it will require a good deal of rain to place our rivers in navigable condition, as the ground is very dry, and all the small streams are very low, if not entirely dried up. Dispatches, we understand, were received yesterday, reporting rain at headwaters of both rivers.

—Tuesday's Cincinnati Commercial says:—Henry Martin, a special agent of the Treasury department, is in the city notifying steamers that they must not carry coal oil unless packed in metallic cases, and then inclosed in boxes or ironbound barrels.... Wharfmaster Sid. Milner has a force at work with a flatboat along the Public Landing removing the unsightly wrecks and snags, whose formidable ends have been displayed to view by the low water. They placed a hawser around a huge stump lying just below the New Orleans wharfboat, yesterday, and having hitched five horses to the loose end, set them to work to pull it out. After a lengthy effort, and the veteran's prongs having failed to yield, it was given up for a bad job. The Salt Valley will try her capstan on it....Colonel Merrill has received from Captain C. M. Cole, contractor, the following report of obstructions recently removed between Marietta and Buffington: "A large rock near the channel at the head of Cole's Island was lifted and dropped into deep water. The worst log opposite the middle of Cole's Island, below the big sycamore, was raised and dropped among the legs on the Ohio shore. The large rock remaining in Mustapha Chute was broken into three pieces and sunk in deep water. A log that recently came in opposite this rock was also removed, and two smaller rocks. One large rock and three smaller ones, and one log, all just below the lump at the head of Lee Creek, were placed on the left shore, above the mouth of the creek. One rock much worn, lying in the channel opposite the head of Belleville Island, was raised and sunk in deep water. One large rock, opposite the foot of the island and near the Ohio shore, was blasted and scattered. This is the rock that sunk a barge load of coal for the Sam. Roberts three years ago, and has been in the way of towboats at a middle stage of water. Eleven of the worst rocks at the head of Swan Bar were removed, and also a log on the Virginia side of the channel at De Witt's Run. In the head of Buffington Chute the large rock at the right of the channel and one hundred yards above the dug chute, was removed, and also all the rocks, about sixty in number, that formed a reef extending from the long dike into the channel above the new chute. The best way to run this chute is to keep down nearest the island until you are about opposite the apple tree above the house, then you cross over the backbone into the dug chute."

—The Louisville Courier says:—The steamers Shippers' Own and Bolivar H. Cooke are running and doing well. The Cooke has cleared, since she was purchased by her present owners, $7,100, and is now making $50 per day. The Shippers' Own has done not so well, but has made, the past summer, $8,300 by running as an independent freighter. She is now plying between Evansville and Cincinnati. The purchasers hope to pay what is owing on the Cooke, which they could do now, except about $1,500, and then have $13,000 of stock for sale or pro rata distribution among the stockholders.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says:—David Buck of Boston, the owner of the Spencer House property, is at the Gibson House. An effort is being made to organize a company to re-open the Spencer. This hotel did a profitable business in former days, and if opened under proper management, would be the central point for the river business. Property owners in the East End, and steamboatmen, should aid the enterprise. The Big Sandy Packet Company ought to be interested in having this house opened.

—The Picayune furnishes the following as the prevailing rates from New Orleans by river to—Cincinnati, 25@30 ℔ 100 lbs; Louisville, 25@30 ℔ 100 lbs; Memphis, 15@20 ℔ 100 lbs; Cairo, 15@20 ℔ 100 lbs; Chicago, 45@50c per 100 lbs; Pittsburgh, 40@50c per 100 lbs; Red River to Alexandria, card rates; Red River above Alexandria, ½ card rates; Ouachita River, card rates; Trenton, card rates; above Trenton, 2 card rates; St. Louis, 10@20c per 100 lbs.

—The New Orleans Times of the 11th says:—There was considerable animation on the landing yesterday. The presence of the steamers Lee and Katie, both with large loads of cotton, gave employment to numbers of men, as did the discharging of several coast packets, which came in with sugar, rice, etc. The Susie Silver received all day, and left in the evening with a good trip.

—A Louisville dispatch of the 15th says:—The Andes, from Cincinnati, ran over a log, crossing Rising Sun bar, crushing a plank in her bottom, making one foot of water in her hold. The crew pumped the water out, built a bulk-head, and left the bar at 8 A. M. She reached here at 9 P. M., returning to Cincinnati at 10 last night.

—The Paragon, from New Orleans to St. Louis, had 1,200 tons of freight, including 3,800 sacks of salt.

—The Rapides was sold at auction, at New Orleans, last Thursday, and bid in by Lord & McPeake for $4,200.

That Sewickley Shooting.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—An article has appeared in the city papers recounting the adventures of a party out hunting near Sewickley, stating that during the "excitement of the chase" one named Lee Smith had accidentally shot another member of the party. Since the appearance of said article I have been called upon by nearly every friend and acquaintance, to "tell them all about it"—"how it happened," &c. For the information of those who have not had an opportunity to have their minds set at rest on the subject, I would say that the individual referred to was not me. I have not been out hunting this summer, and don't intend to go. I would also say, in the language of the immortal "Bill," "He that steals my purse steals trash," but he that steals my good name (even to go hunting) robs me, &c. Respectfully,

LEE S. SMITH.

ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY.

A Safe Blown Open at Curwinsville.

On Monday night the First National Bank of Curwinsville, six miles above Clearfield, was entered by robbers, and a blast of powder applied to a safe without the large vault which, when discharged, blew the large plate glass front of the bank into atoms. The noise was so great that it aroused the cashier who lived on the opposite side of the street, who, in company with his son, repaired to the bank building, but only in time to see the burglars make their escape. There was $5,000 in the safe besides a quantity of notes, but nothing was carried away as the alarm was so great that it soon attracted a large crowd. An attempt was made to enter the vault but it was unsuccessful. The would-be thieves are still at large.

OUT THE WINDOW.

A Defendant Jumps From the Mayor's Private Office to Virgin Alley and Escapes.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mathew Bolinberg appeared at the Mayor's office for a hearing on a charge of adultery and bastardy, preferred against him by Paul Staph. He had been previously arrested, and gave bail in the sum of $2,000 to appear for a hearing, Mr. Sowlsberg becoming his bondsman. The Acting Mayor being detained by business, did not arrive at the office until about four o'clock, or a few minutes after. The prosecutor, defendant, counsel and witnesses were all on hand, and patiently awaited the arrival of the magistrate. Just a few minutes before he reached the Temple of Justice, Bolinberg and his attorney, Wm. Reardon, stepped back into the Mayor's private office, where a young lady, Miss Hattie Hamilton, who was interested in another case, was sitting. They remained there but a moment or two, when Mr. Reardon came out again into the front office, where he had been but a few seconds, when the young lady referred to came rushing out also, and exclaimed, "Oh! there is a man jumping out the window in the back office." The Clerk hastened in, and sure enough, Bolinberg had thrown up the window looking on Virgin alley, and leaping out, had made his escape. When the Acting Mayor arrived, and was informed of the facts in the case, he declared the defendant's bail forfeited.

HELD TO BAIL.

An Alleged Counterfeiting Case.

James Porter had a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner McCandless, on a charge of passing a twenty dollar counterfeit bill on the Market National Bank of New York, at the store of Mr. Rahenkamp, on Saturday night. It is alleged that the defendant went to the store at the time named, where he bought a lot of goods and paid for them, receiving a receipt for the same, after which he ordered the package sent to Mrs. Kesters on Gibbons street. It is further alleged, that at that time he gave his name as Johnston; also, that when he purchased the goods, he had a mustache. An information being lodged against him yesterday by Herman Gillis, a young man who clerks in Mr. R's store and of whom the purchase was made, Officers Harris and Miller proceed to the house where he was stopping and made the arrest. When he was taken into custody he gave his name as James Porter and had his mustache shaved off, but he was identified by the prosecutor as the man who has passed the counterfeit note. The defendant claimed that he had received the bill from a man in Allegheny and that he was ignorant of its worthlessness, and said he would be able to show that he was innocent of the charge.

After hearing the testimony in the case he was held in $500 to answer to Court.

SHOT ON THE STREET.

A Difficulty in a Saloon Ends in a Shooting Affray.

Shortly after twelve o'clock this morning a difficulty took place at Weil's saloon on Fifth avenue opposite the Court House, which resulted in the shooting and possibly fatal wounding of a colored man by the name of Frank Hodge.

It appears that he, with a white man whose name could not be learned, were in the room, when harsh words were passed between them, and on going out on the pavement, the white man drew his revolver and shot Hodge. The ball took effect in the back part of his head, passing through the skull, where it lodged. The wounded man was taken to the Central Station, when Dr. McCoy was summoned, who made an examination, but on account of the nature of the wound he was unable to ascertain the exact locality of the ball. He was unable to say whether it would prove fatal, but thought there was a possibility of the recovery of the victim. After attending him Hodge was removed to his home by officer Welsh. The man who did the shooting is still at large, but the officers are making every effort to effect his arrest.

At two o'clock this morning a man was arrested, supposed to have done the shooting, and he is now in the lockup. It is thought, however, that the wrong party has been captured.

THE WAHL TRAGEDY.

The Confession of the Crime by Myers—He Makes a Full Statement of the Entire Affair—His Acquaintance With Murray—What They Had Been Doing Before Coming to Pittsburgh—The Blame Attached to Murray.

About one o'clock yesterday afternoon, Detective Seth Wilmot, accompanied by Mr. Van Baalen, keeper of a second-hand store, on Fifth avenue, called at the jail to interview the murderers of Farmer Wahl, a dispatch having been received sometime during the forenoon from the Chief of Police, of Detroit, Mich., stating that a man named Myers had broken jail at that place a few days previously, and only two or three days before he was to be hung for the crime of murder, of which he had been convicted. The telegram hinted that perhaps the Myers arrested here might be the one they wanted in Detroit, and it was for the purpose of ascertaining if this was the case that the parties went to the prison. Myers did not prove to be the man referred to in the telegram, so Detective Wilmot began conversing with him as to his former place of residence. He said he had come from Indianapolis, Indiana, where he had been doing laboring work. He came through Toledo on his way to Cleveland a short time ago, and between Toledo and Cleveland he fell in with Murray. After a brief acquaintanceship Murray professed to have plenty of money, and said he knew how to make it. In Cleveland, Murray stole two overcoats, which Meyers stated were pawned at Susman's pawn shop on Wylie avenue, after their arrival here. He also told of a number of burglaries which were committed by Murray, as they were on their way from Toledo to Cleveland.

When asked about the Perrysville road murder, he responded that things looked rather dark, and then confessed that Murray fired the fatal shot which resulted in the death of Mr. Wahl. He conversed rather freely on the subject, and said he held the horses while Murray attacked the parties in the wagon; that his companion did not intend to kill any one, but had been drinking during the afternoon and evening and was a little nervous, and his revolver was discharged before he knew it. He then stated that Murray demanded Mr. Wahl's money and was told he had none to surrender. There was but one shot fired according to his testimoney and when they left their victim they were not certain that he had been seriously hurt, though they thought he was wounded.

It appears as they went out the Perrysville road, they drank at different saloons rather freely, having taken both beer and whisky. After the murder had been committed they started for their boarding house on Third avenue, where they arrived about eleven o'clock.

Meyers stated that he had never committed any murder and attached the entire blame to Murray, who, he said, had drawn him into this trouble. He claimed not to have any pistol and said the murder was committed with a revolver, which Murray had bought since he came to Pittsburgh. He seemed deeply concerned about his mother, who lives at Leavenworth, Kansas, and was very anxious that she should be kept in ignorance as to his present condition.

After the conversation closed, Murray was interviewed, but he was non-committal.

In the confession Meyers stated that he did not make the statements which he had made in the hope that they would benefit him in the least, but because the facts bore so heavily upon his mind that he could not help making a clean breast of the whole affair. Further developments in this case will be looked for with interest, and no doubt other things will come to light which are, as yet, not revealed.

U. S. Circuit Court.

[Before Judge McKennan.]

Jno. McKinley was tried on an indictment for passing counterfeit money at Parkers Landing. He was acquitted and honorably discharged. District Attorney Reed, in his address to the jury, stated that the defendant had already been in jail for a period of eighteen months, awaiting trial, which was sufficient punishment, and asked the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal. The case had been heard once before but the jury failed to agree.

A nolle prosequi was entered in the case of the United States vs. Perry Johnson, indicted for passing counterfeit money.

The cases of the United States vs. John H. Stewart were continued.

There being no case ready for trial the Court adjourned until this morning at ten o'clock, when the civil list will be taken up and the cases thereon disposed of.

Louis Zeller pleaded guilty to selling liquor on Sunday, charged by Wm. Adams.

Johanna Buettner was placed on trial on four indictments for illegal liquor selling, but a nol. pros. was allowed in each case, it appearing that another person had rented the saloon from her and informed her that he had a license, which was not the fact.

Michael Glistch, charged on two indictments with selling liquor to minors, on oath of W. B. Ross, plead nolo contendere to one indictment and a nol. pros. was allowed at the instance of the prosecutor on the payment of the costs by the defendant.

J. B. Frobe, indicted for selling liquor on Sunday, was acquitted. The prosecutor was James W. Hamilton.

In the case of August Geisler, indicted for selling liquor on Sunday, the jury is out. The prosecutor is Joseph H. Turner.

INVESTIGATING THE CHIEF.

His Claim for Services in October—The Negative Testimony Given Last Night—The Payment of His Salary Recommended.

Last night the sub-committee of the Police Committee, appointed on Monday evening to investigate the claim of Chief Irwin for compensation for services rendered during the month of October, met in the office of the City Clerk. The members present were Messrs. Haines and Zern, and Chief Irwin was also on hand to watch the ebb and flow of the investigating tide. Quite a number of witnesses had been summoned, including Chief Engineer White, Assistant Hamill, the detective force, Clerk Hartzell, the reporters of the press and others, but only a few of them were on hand. Mr. Haines stated the object of the meeting, and asked the Chief if he had any witnesses whose testimony he would like to have placed on record. The Chief said he had not, and added that he had receiued no notification of the meeting except what he had read in the morning papers. Clerk Morrow replied that he had in the morning sent a notice to the Central Station for the Chief, and the natural supposition is that if he had been there during the day he would have received it. He subsequently acknowledged that he had got the notice. He then stated that, he had been on duty during the entire month of October, and said that the committee could do as it pleased, it made no difference to him what conclusion was arrived at, and he didn't care, only for the members of the committee as gentlemen. In their official capacity he did not recognize their authority over him. Mr. Haines suggested that it would be well enough to have the Acting Mayor present. The chief answered that the Acting Mayor had nothing to do with him, and he only considered himself responsible to Mayor Blackmore. The investigation did not last over an hour, and throughout, Chief Irwin, while showing the greatest respect, at the same time displayed the most profound indifference to everything. The examination was finally commenced, and the first witnesses sworn were members of the morning press. John N. Neeb stated that he visited the Mayor's office at different times from two o'clock in the afternoon until eight or nine o'clock at night, and that during the month of October he did not remember having seen the Chief at all at that place. J. S. Ritenour testified that during the same time he could only recollect having seen the Chief but once. Captain Reed, of the Central Station, said the Chief called to see him whenever he had any orders to give, but as far as neglect of duty is concerned, he knew nothing about it. Edward Magee, day watchman in Municipal Hall, said he had not seen Mr. Irwin more than once, and Mr. Locke, of the evening press, testified substantially the same as the others. All the witnesses agreed that the Chief might have often visited the Mayor's office and not been seen by them. The investigation was a complete and unmitigated farce from beginning to end, as those who really know something about the alleged neglect of duty on the part of Chief Irwin, and who were requested to be present, did not put in an appearance, but religiously stayed away. Clerk Morrow remarked after the session was over that it would have been a bigger fizzle than it turned out to be, had not the reporters testified as much for the purpose of getting an item as for anything else, and he told a good deal of truth. No other witnesses were examined, and the committee decided to report that according to the evidence before them the Chief had not neglected his duty, and also to recommend that his salary be paid. Such was the life, labors and death of another investigating committee, and this is a true chronicle of the same. Requiescat in pace.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY.

Preventing Cruelty to Animals—A Constitution and By-laws Adopted—Membership, &c.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals met yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. In the absence of the temporary President Mr. Case called the meeting to order and stated that Mr. James Park, Jr., who was elected President at the previous meeting was unable to accept the position, owing to a press of business matters. On his motion Mr. Geo. J. Luckey was called upon to preside, and Mr. Street read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved.

Mr. Ritenour, from the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws, submitted a report which was taken up and its provisions discussed seriatim. After making some alterations it was adopted as a whole. It provides that the name of the society shall be the Allegheny County Humane Society, and is a branch of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Its officers shall consist of a President, six Vice Presidents, four of whom shall be ladies, a Secretary, Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of fifteen, ten of which shall be ladies. Any person, male or female, upon the payment of $5.00 can become a member of the Society, and to attain a life membership the payment of $100 is required. The annual meeting of the society shall be held on the first Wednesday of January of each year, when the annual reports shall be submitted. The Executive Committee is also empowered to nominate a Superintendent, who shall be confirmed by the Society, to appoint such Agents as may be deemed advisable, to care for the funds of the Society and to fill such vacancies as may occur in the list of officers. The discussion that followed the presentation of the document was quite general and evidenced the interest taken by the members in the organization and its object. The debate was participated in by Rev. E. R. Donahue and Messrs. Calton, Jennings, Sutton, Luckey, Eaton and others, all of whom offered valuable suggestions.

Mr. Byram, from the Committee on Membership, stated that individually they were working hard and meeting with great success. Over forty names have already been secured, and he asked that the committee be continued until the next meeting, when he hoped to be able to present at least one hundred names. The request was granted.

Mr. Street read a letter from James Park, Jr., stating that he could not possibly accept the position of President of the Society, as his duties required all his time. The letter was received and filed, and the election of a President was postponed.

On motion of Mr. Colton the meeting adjourned until three o'clock next Tuesday afternoon, when the organization of the Society will be completed finally.

CHANNEL OBSTRUCTIONS.

The Coal Men's Complaint Concerning the Obstructions in the Monongahela—The Matter Considered by the Wharf Committee.

A special meeting of the Monongahela Wharf Committee was held yesterday afternoon to consider the complaints made by the Coal Exchange against the Try street sewer, and against parties who are dumping dirt into the channel of the Monongahela river, near the Pan Handle bridge, and seriously threatening the obstruction of navigation.

Mr. N. J. Bigley appeared in behalf of the coal men and stated that they annually pay $8,000 wharfage into the City Treasury and yet receive no protection. The channel is being filled up at the place indicated and they cannot get their coal boats through. The city authorities pay no attention to the parties who are engaged in the work of obstructing the channel, and such a course the gentleman considered unjust to the men whom he represented. They have dug the channel out before and are doing it again at great cost, yet persons are allowed to fill it up again.

Wharfmaster Buchanan agreed with Mr. Bigley and said the obstruction is a complete bar to navigation, and that unless the coal men removed it at their own cost they could not get out the immense quantity of coal awaiting transportation.

City Solicitor Bigelow stated that the city has no jurisdiction over the wharf above Grant street, but that any citizen can sue parties who deposit refuse beyond low water line. The State has control over all its rivers, and any person aggrieved by the filling up of a channel is at liberty to prosecute.

Mr. Bigley said the Try street sewer was constructed by the city to low water line, but that private parties have extended it beyond that limit, and that it is spewing out its contents and obstructing navigation. He wished to know if the extension of the sewer could not be stopped.

Mr. Bigelow replied that the city has jurisdiction only to low water mark and any one extending a sewer beyond it encroached, not on Municipal rights, but on the rights of the State, and they can only be reached by some one instituting suit in the name of the Commonwealth. The Wharf Committee has no power in the matter and cannot prevent the offense complained of.

After some further discussion an old ordinance was discovered prohibiting the hauling of stuff beyond low water line. Mr. Bigelow doubted its legality for the reasons stated above. The Wharfmaster was finally instructed to enter suit against those who deposit dirt beyond the prescribed limit, for the purpose of testing the matter, and the City Attorney was authorized to prepare an ordinance declaring the water front in the Thirtieth ward, formerly South Pittsburgh, a public wharf.

Adjourned.

Special Notice.

In addition to our business of manufacturing Superior Crackers, we are now putting up in 6 lb sacks a very superior article of Self Raising Flour and Buckwheat. The object of self raising flour is to save the housekeeper the trouble and expense and often uncertainity of using soda, acid or baking powder. With self-raising flour or buckwheat you do not require any yeast, soda, salt, acid or baking powder to produce Biscuit, Cake of any kind, Dough-nuts, Puddings, Pastry or Griddle Cakes. The self-raising is fully mixed with the flour by machinery, so that every particle of flour has its particle of self-raising. You can use your own receipts or those printed on every sack of the flour. With buckwheat, all that is required to produce the lightest of cakes, is to take our self-raising buckwheat flour and make a batter with water and bake at once on a hot griddle. With our Flour and Buckwheat, your Biscuit, &c., will always be the same. This flour, as well as our Superior Crackers and small Cakes, will be found at all the grocers; also at the factory, 91 and 93 Liberty street. We have on hand and for sale the largest stock of Buckwheat Flour in the city, which we will sell in bags as it comes from the mill. S. S. MARVIN & Co.

$10 to $1,000 invested in Stocks and Gold pays 200 per cent. a month. Send for particulars. Tumbridge & Co., Bankers, Wall St., N. Y. d&8

An Appeal.

To all liberal Christians and friends of liberal Christianity in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and vicinity, Greeting:

BELOVED FRIENDS—The First Universalist Parish of Pittsburgh, Pa., after having encountered numerous difficulties, was steadily increasing in vigor and cheering our hearts with the promise of a final success, when it was suddenly arrested by financial embarrassment, another sad result of the late panic. And, in this extremity, we make an earnest and importunate appeal to all liberal Christians and friends of liberal Christianity, imploring you in the name of God and humanity to come immediately to the rescue and aid in saving our beloved cause while there is hope. A meeting has been called to convene at the Universalist Church, corner of Third avenue and Grant street this evening, (Wednesday, 18th inst.,) at 7:30, to consult and adopt measures to accomplish the above object.

All are cordially invited.

By order of the Board.
J. A. ROBINSON, Secretary.

Prime Oysters and Fish.

The word prime as applied to the especial brand of oysters kept by Mr. B. Pulpress, at his stand No. 45 Diamond Market, and known as the Deep Sea Oyster, but poorly expresses their many excellent qualities, and to be appreciated, they must go the way of all flesh, viz.: must be eaten, and they cannot fail to please the palate of the most exacting lover of this bivalve. They are really delicious. Try the Deep Sea Oyster
